DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 1/23/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the panty element is attached or engaged with contacting the hands of the user) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Additionally, Applicant argues limitations directed to how the garment is used. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3761

3. Claims 1 and 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lovison USPN 4022212. As to claim 1, Lovison discloses a panty element A and a sanitary napkin B, and first engaging member 31 on the front panel and second engaging member 31 on the rear panel (Figure 3), which can be engaged without engaging a user's legs through the panty element. With regard to the crotch being formed integral with the front and rear panel, it has been held the term "integral" is sufficiently broad to embrace constructions united by such means as fastening and welding. In re Hotte, 177 USPQ 326, 328 (CCPA 1973). The term "integral" does not require a unitary one-piece structure. See also In re Kohno, 391 F. 2d 959, 157 USPQ 275 (CCPA 1968); In re Larson, 340 F. 2d 965, 144 USPQ 347 (CCPA 1965). With regard to the function of the panty element engaging onto front and rear portions of an abdominal portion of a user, it is well established that a recitation with respect to the manner in which an apparatus is intended to be employed, i.e., a functional limitation, does not impose any structural limitation upon the claimed apparatus which differentiates it from a prior art reference disclosing the structural limitations of the claim. In re Pearson, 494 F. 2d 1399, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974); In re Casey, 370 F. 2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967).

As to claims 3 and 4, each of the front and rear panels 13, 15 have a free edge to which the engaging members are attached (Figure 3).

As to claim 5, the engaging member comprise hook-and-loop engaging members (Figure 3).

Conclusion

2. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
